REGISTRATION INFORMATION

for NRVC 2015 Workshops & Programs

THE National Religious Vocation Conference (NRVC) reflects all forms of religious life and is committed to providing its membership with educational opportunities, resources, and other supportive services that strengthen and enhance spiritual, professional and personal growth. NRVC recommends that all vocation ministers participate in ongoing educational opportunities to further develop their professional skills and competencies.

This year, NRVC is offering nine programs for professional development through its comprehensive Summer and Fall Institutes, as well as Advent Days for Renewal and Reflection.

Workshops are intended for vocation ministers, formation teams, seminary personnel, religious leadership and others entrusted with the assessment of inquirers and candidates. Workshops are designed for those who wish to deepen their understanding of the complex theological, spiritual, psycho-sexual, ethical, and diversity issues often present in contemporary vocation ministry.

While the message from the risen Christ to “Come, follow me” has not changed in over two millennia, the methods used to promote vocations continue to evolve. Through our programs, NRVC strives to provide participants with the tools and information they need to minister effectively in this day and age.

—SISTER DEBORAH M. BORNEMAN, SS.C.M., DIRECTOR OF MEMBER RELATIONS AND SERVICES

The 2015 Summer Institute will offer four workshops at DePaul University's Chicago Loop campus.

SUMMER INSTITUTE July 17-31, 2015

OUR ANNUAL Summer Institute will offer four workshops at the downtown campus of DePaul University, July 17-31. It's your choice as to how many workshops to participate in this summer. Located in the popular Chicago Loop at Jackson and State streets, DePaul University is easily accessible from both Midway and O'Hare airports by shuttle and rapid transit trains. The Loop Campus is located at 1 East Jackson Boulevard in Chicago, Illinois 60604-2287. For more information, go to <http://www.depaul.edu/about/campuses/Pages/loop.aspx>.

Overnight accommodations are available at the University Center, which is just two blocks from DePaul University. Enjoy the convenience of having your workshop close to restaurants, shopping, museums and Lake Michigan. The University Center offers two-person suites, which include a private bedroom and a shared bathroom with another NRVC workshop participant.

A complimentary buffet breakfast is offered during the weekday for residents. Weekly linen service is included as well as an in-room microwave and a micro-fridge. For more information, visit <http://universitycenter.com/inside/>. Limited rooms are available; make your overnight accommodations when you register online for your workshop. Please do not call the University Center for reservations. See page 2 for Registration Reminders.

The University Center's cafeteria.

I loved the accommodations: they were safe and close to the DePaul University. The cafeteria at the University Center was also very good; I used it often for my breakfast.

BEHAVIORAL ASSESSMENT I

This workshop presents practical interviewing techniques housed in a theoretical framework of behavioral assessment. While the focus of the workshop is on initial assessment of candidates, the methodology easily applies to assessing candidates in other stages of formation as well. Workshop participants study sample case reports, and learn skills for interviewing as well as guidelines for organizing the information into useful reports. Interview topics include: family background, educational and occupational histories, psychosexual histories and intimacy skills, faith history, and other pertinent issues related to comprehensive vocational assessment.

July 20-22, 2015

This workshop begins at 9 a.m. on Monday, July 20 and ends at 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday, July 22.

THE ASSESSMENT OF FAMILY ORIGIN ISSUES FOR CANDIDATES TO RELIGIOUS LIFE

Family of origin issues often present many land mines for vocation and formation personnel. All too often these issues end up sabotaging the individual and the community's health and well-being if left unaddressed. One of the principal objectives of this workshop will be to help vocation ministers formulate specific and more appropriate questions, which when answered, may inhibit or exclude candidacy. The format will be within an adult learning methodology. It will attempt to be highly interactive with ample time for individual and group processing, discussion of specific cases and utilizing the very latest in research and theory on this topic.

July 29-31, 2015

This workshop begins at 9 a.m. on Wednesday, July 29 and ends at noon on Friday, July 31.

Presenter

Father Gerard J. McGlone, S.J., Ph.D. is currently the Executive Editor of Human Development Magazine and the Executive Director of the Guest House Institute. He was a clinical and research fellow at The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences. He is currently an Assistant Professor (applied-on leave) at Georgetown University, School of Medicine, and Department of Psychiatry. He has been a psychotherapist in many settings while in California, Massachusetts, Maryland and Pennsylvania for almost 25 years. He is a renowned speaker, presenter, and consults with dioceses and religious orders extensively throughout the Americas and Europe.

In Special Commemoration of the Year of Consecrated Life

VOCATION MINISTRY WITHIN THE YEAR OF CONSECRATED LIFE: TRENDS, ISSUES, and BEST PRACTICES

I am counting on you “to wake up the world,” since the distinctive sign of consecrated life is prophecy. . . . This is the priority that is needed right now: to be prophets who witness to how Jesus lived on this earth. —POPE FRANCIS, APOSTOLIC LETTER MARKING START OF YEAR OF CONSECRATED LIFE

POPE FRANCIS proclaimed 2015 a Year of Consecrated Life and in celebration of this commemorative year, NRVC is offering this seminal workshop which will feature three professionals treating the topic of religious life and its implications for vocation ministry, with and among the young Church today. Approaching the topic from their own expertise, each presenter will offer the trends, issues, best practices and skills needed for credible and proficient vocation ministry, in three individual day long workshops. The central focus of this comprehensive three day workshop is for participants to echo the words of Pope Francis: to “look to the past with gratitude . . . live the present with passion . . . [and] embrace the future with hope” as we “Wake up the World” while celebrating the Year of Consecrated Life!

October 23-25, 2015

This workshop begins at 9 a.m. on Friday, October 23 and ends at 4:30 p.m. on Sunday, October 25.

DAY 1 A call to encounter/encuentro: Invitations and implications for religious life today

In an age of many meetings about varied topics, the deeper call and invitation of religious life today is to encounter/encuentro. Encounters hold the potential of calling us forth more deeply and fully in God, with one another and in creation. This day will consider five dimensions of encounter in order to see what invitations they offer us and also where encuentros will, if we are willing, lead us as religious in the world today. Our exploration of encounter will be through the multi-faceted lenses of scripture and tradition, religious (life) history, the arts and your own experience.

PRESENTER Sister Maria Cimperman, R.S.C.J. is a Religious of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. She is the Director of the Center for the Study of Consecrated Life at Catholic Theological Union (Chicago), where she is also Associate Professor of Theological Ethics. Sister Maria’s work is at the intersection of moral theology, social ethics and spirituality. Her passion for and commitment to religious life is clear as she writes and presents both nationally and internationally on contemporary religious life. Sister Maria earned her M.Div. from the University of Notre Dame, S.T.L. from Weston Jesuit School of Theology and Ph.D. in theological ethics from Boston College.

DAY 2 Vocation ministry through the lens of transformation

Religious life is at a graced crossroads, moving through a period of profound transformation, and communities are discerning God's call to new life. Despite this growing recognition, and for many a growing crisis, many communities will fail to engage in the hard work of transformation and deep change. Vocation efforts are at the center of the demographic crisis among religious congregations. Members have placed nearly all of their hopes for a future upon the recruitment of new members only to have these hopes dashed. This workshop will address how vocation efforts can become a catalyst for transformation using new paradigms for vowed communal life.

PRESENTER Dr. Ted Dunn, Ph.D. is a licensed clinical psychologist working internationally to provide consultation, training, and facilitation services to religious communities. He has written extensively about religious life and regularly presents at Chapters and assemblies. His current focus is on guiding communities as they discern God's call to new life through processes that encourage deep change and transformation. The integration of spirituality, psychology, and systems theory, along with the use of nonviolent communication skills, are key to his efforts.

Though clients and methods vary, his compassionate approach to healing, belief in the amazing resiliency of the human spirit, and personal commitment to lifelong learning remain the foundation to all his professional endeavors.

DAY 3 Creating a religious life for the 21st century

The time has come to begin rebuilding religious life, this priceless gift to the Church and world, for a new age. This presentation will help participants to understand better religious life's pilgrimage during the past 50 years, to appreciate where this way of life stands today, and to look ahead to see what the future might hold. While monastic, mendicant, and apostolic expressions of consecrated life cannot be renewed in the same way, all three forms face some common challenges today: clarifying identity, reclaiming charism, reading the signs of this age, understanding the real changes that are taking place in our world and Church.

PRESENTER Brother Sean D. Sammon, F.M.S. is a Marist Brother who holds currently an appointment as Scholar in Residence at Marist College, Poughkeepsie, New York. Previously he served in Rome for 16 years as Superior General and Vicar General of his congregation. For several years Brother Sean was the International Clinical Director of House of Affirmation. He holds a Ph.D. in clinical psychology from Fordham University and is the author of several books and numerous articles, including HORIZON articles, examining the interface of faith and social science. Recently he was a presenter at the NRVC's Men Religious Moving Forward in Hope program.

ADVENT DAYS OF REFLECTION AND RENEWAL

ADVENT can be the ideal time for busy vocation and formation ministers to slow down for much needed self-care and intensive prayer. This year, NRVC and the Religious Formation Conference (RFC) are collaborating to offer their members four days in the desert to focus on transformation and the journey of faith. The program will be held at the Redemptorist Renewal Center in Tucson, AZ. Situated in the foothills of the Tucson Mountains in the beautiful Sonoran Desert, it is a site that appeals to the nature lover and gently challenges city dwellers. Overnight accommodations include private room and bath as well as internet access and all meals. The retreat center is approximately 20 minutes by shuttle from the Tucson airport (TUC). For more information about the facility, go to: <http://www.desertrenewal.org/index.html>. Please do not call the Redemptorist Renewal Center for reservations.

LEARNING TO LIVE AND PRAY IN JOYFUL HOPE

This Advent retreat experience offers vocation and formation ministers opportunities to embrace spiritual practices characteristic of traditional Advent spirituality: waiting, accepting, anticipating, listening, heightened awareness, gratitude, silence, and pondering into the depths of the heart. These practices aid us along the way of our hurried lives and especially help us to slow down a bit during the hustle and bustle of the commercialized rush to Christmas. Our days of reflection and renewal will offer participants a needed pause that will refresh bodies, minds, and souls with inspiration that flows from the season's scriptural readings, music, symbols, and rituals. Come join us as we pave the way for our hearts to wait in joyful hope to celebrate the wonder and peace of Christmas, not just for a day but the whole year long.

December 14-17, 2015

This program begins at 5 p.m. on Monday, December 14, and ends at 10 a.m. on Thursday, December 17.

Presenter

Sister Addie Lorraine Walker, S.S.N.D., Ph.D. has been a School Sister of Notre Dame for over 30 years. She served as provincial leader of the Dallas Province of S.S.N.D. for nine years. Currently, she is Associate Professor of Pastoral Theology and founder and director of the Sankofa Institute for African American Pastoral Leadership at Oblate School of Theology in San Antonio, TX. Sister Addie Lorraine earned a Ph.D. in religion and education from Boston College in 1996, and now ministers as pastoral and practical theologian in university, high school, and parish settings and n formation programs and retreats for religious congregations. She recently was a contributing author of Power of Sisterhood: Women Religious Tell the Story of the Apostolic Visitation.

Program fees

Fees include three meals, materials, speaker, and facility fee. RESIDENT: $675 – NRVC or RFC member. The National Religious Vocation Conference is a professional organization of vocation ministers that presents religious life as a viable option in the Catholic Church. NRVC promotes vocation awareness, invitation, and discernment to life as a religious sister, brother, or priest. NRVC reflects all forms of religious life and provides educational opportunities, resources, and other supportive services for spiritual, professional, and personal growth.
